Understand factors contributing to skin aging

80%

Collagen is one of the most important proteins in the human body. It accounts for 30% of total protein and represents 60% of dry mass of skin. Primarily located in connective tissue, it is responsible for providing structure.

Aging skin is a result in the decrease of collagen in the dermis - the region where most topically cosmetic products have effective action.

External Factors

Skin is affected by both - dermal layer structure and environmental factors including aging, ultraviolet radiation, hormones and nutrition. Because of this, the epidermis becomes thinner, the connective tissue looses firmness and elasticity, and wrinkles and supplies access VERISOL®. From these skin stresses, important compounds protecting enzymes which cause loss of collagenous substances are damaged.

Natural skin aging process

During the aging process, the skin suffers a loss of moisture and becomes increasingly dry. From the age of 30, the performance of fibroblasts and thus collagen synthesis is reduced. This information after menopause.

VERISOL® - How it works

1. Our daily intake of 15 g VERISOL®
2. Bioactive Collagen Peptide® 50% gain in the skin cells to produce more collagen
3. Changes in the skin structure with increased collagen
4. Daily intake of only 15 g VERISOL® stimulates collagen regeneration, increases skin thickness and reduces signs of aging

VERISOL® can slow this process, delaying signs of aging by smoothing the formation of wrinkles and improving the elasticity and firmness of skin.
